needs to be displayed.
The variable declaration editor provides a column "additional information".
How can it be used?

Problem (public)

Solution (public)

The content, shown in the column "additional information" is influenced by the environment variable "LC32_AI_FORMAT_STRING". The value of this variable will be the format string for the information needed to be displayed. e.g.: "%*%n %t %v". More information to this can be found in logi.CADs online help.
